Secretary, American Folklore Society,

Geological Survey, Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

I regret that owing to the large number of demands that are made upon me at present I am unable to take on any further obligations, and during the period of the war I do not think I can find it possible to join the American Folklore Society.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Gentlemen:

I am sending your letter of the Y. W. C. A. Employment Bureau. I doubt, however, whether there will be anyone found to suit you.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dr. D. T. Baxter,

10 James Street North, Hamilton, Ont.

Dear Dr. Baxter:

On my return home this morning I find your letter with regard to the standing of your son. I will hand it to the Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science and ask him to look into the matter, but I am afraid that it would be almost impossible for us to make an exception. If we do so for one we must do so for others. The matriculation examination also is arranged so that its standard fits a student for the work that he is required to undertake in the courses of the university and if he is below that standard, particularly in such a vital subject as Mathematics in the Faculty of Engineering, his course will be greatly handicapped. I am sorry that I am unable to lead you to expect that the request will be granted, but of course it does not finally rest with me.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Yes I don't see any danger of a militarized America or whatever. All I see is an America infinitely greater than ever before. Isn't the sight of American flags on Easter Parade all I like all over France give one a curious thrill. And there is no doubt that it is so all - and I doubt whether it is really - Politics which makes President Wilson the most hated man in Western Europe today. Also the way from Socialists to anarchists may stand if this is as it stands I rather fancy. It is rather too bullet-proof it couldn't be better. All best to Mrs. Fogelbach of being really great - now and in the future is pretty sobering and one is very glad to hear such splendid evidence of devotion to the war at home. We've had very springlike weather and everyone on both sides is getting ready for the spring. It's a little weird isn't it - the weeks of winter preparation for such crops - until you realize - But that is too handy even for this letter. But it helps to know some history these days. Of course I can't tell you a word of what I'm doing but it's interesting in the extreme. Outside of being rather

My dear Liegelbach,

I have intended so often to write but you can imagine how it is. Here at H. Q. we dont do so much violent fighting but we keep uncommonly busy and I have a couple of chiefs who work so hard themselves that their juniors are usually kept at a dog-trot in order to stay in the same. And they are real chiefs. I dont know much about the army as a whole but the General Staff people here who fill all the important posts would be heard of in any business or profession. The only wonder to me is how they ever stayed in it in peace time. I suppose ~~some~~ some of them had enough real love of the game to study strategy and keep alive on that. I think all of us reservers are immensely glad and grateful to be in now but I haven't met one who would like it for a life

Give very best regards to any friends who may chance to be in the Department

C. Berkeley, Esq.,

2412 Alder Street,

Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Mr. Berkeley:

I spoke to Colonel Cooderham some six weeks ago about the chance of his getting you for his work in connection with British Acetones Company. He told me at that time that he was in correspondence with you, but I have not seen him with regard to the matter since. I will mention it to him however when next I see him.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Cette instruction est sur le point d'être terminée et au premier appel de nos Chefs, cette admirable jeunesse sera prête à suivre la trace de ses aînés.

Le moral de ces jeunes gens est admirable, tous sont impatients de partir pour le front.

Dieu veuille, pour notre patrie, que ce soit le dernier sacrifice à accomplir!

Mon tour de départ approche, toutefois, je ne sais pas encore d'une façon précise quel régiment je serai affecté.

Veuillez agréer, Monsieur le Président, l'assurance de mon profond respect.

Monsieur le Président

J'ai l'honneur de vous accuser réception de l'aimable lettre que vous avez bien voulu m'envoyer.

Je vous prie d'excuser mon long silence et d'attribuer cette incorrection, bien involontaire, au peu de loisirs dus nous avons, par suite du travail intensif auquel nous nous livrons, en vue d'accélérer l'instruction militaire de nos jeunes soldats de la Classe 1918.

Dear Mrs. Brock:

I have to thank you very much for your kind letter enclosing a check for ten dollars towards University War Relief Funds. I am sending it to the Hospital Supply Association, which is responsible for the maintenance of our University Base Hospital. This hospital has recently come to England after doing splendid work in Palestine.

The University situation this year is small, but owing to the [illegible] of subscriptions we are getting on to a proper working basis.

My dear President Bryan:

I have to acknowledge with thanks your kind letter. It would have been a great pleasure to me to attend your Conference at Rochester, but as I wrote to President Rush Rhees to-day I had promised some time ago to speak at the University of Pennsylvania on the 22nd and to arrive in Philadelphia the day before. On that account my arrangements are such that it is impossible for me to accept your invitation. I know that I should have received a great deal of pleasure and benefit from the intercourse. Wishing you most successful conference,

I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear Sir:

Mr. J. J. Gray has been deeply interested in the work that Mr. Bulkeley and I have been engaged in relating to submarine detection. We both are greatly pleased with his suggestion that this work be continued at Toronto University, the results to be placed before the British Government through the officers of the Canadian Government.

I therefore have the honor of again bringing this matter to your attention and of requesting that you kindly place such facilities of the University as may
